

Title of the Practice:Holistic Educational Support through Scholarships and Infrastructure Development2. Objectives of the Practice:

- To provide financial assistance to underprivileged students for pursuing higher education.
- To enhance the quality of education through the development of modern infrastructure.
- To improve academic performance and career prospects of students through targeted support programs.
- To promote inclusivity by ensuring access to education for economically weaker sections.
- To equip students with necessary skills through workshops and seminars on career and skill development.

3. The Context:

Education is a powerful tool for social transformation. However, financial constraints often prevent deserving students from accessing higher education recognizing this challenge, Late Bhimrao Art. Commerce, and Science College, under the leadership of Er. Sheshrao Bhimrao Chavan, initiated a practice aimed at providing financial support and enhancing educational infrastructure. The practice was developed to ensure that students, especially from economically weaker sections, could pursue their academic aspirations without financial hindrance and receive a quality education that prepares them for successful careers.

4. The Practice:

Under the leadership of Er. Sheshrao Bhimrao Chavan, the college implemented a series of scholarship programs aimed at supporting underprivileged students. These scholarships cover tuition fees, books, and other educational expenses, allowing students from economically weaker sections to continue their education without financial stress. In addition to financial support, the college has invested heavily in infrastructure development. This includes the establishment of state-of-the-art laboratories, libraries, and digital classrooms, which provide a modern and conducive learning environment. To further support students' academic and career growth, the college regularly organizes workshops and seminars focused on career counseling, competitive exam preparation, and skill development.

5. Evidence of Success:

The practice has yielded significant positive outcomes. The college has seen a notable increase in the enrollment of students from disadvantaged backgrounds. The enhanced infrastructure has improved the overall quality of education, leading to better academic performance among students. Additionally, graduates from the college have reported better career prospects, as evidenced by higher rates of job placements and success in competitive examinations. The workshops and seminars have equipped students with essential skills, further contributing to their success in the professional world.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required

Despite the success of this practice, several challenges were encountered during its implementation. Securing sufficient funds to sustain the scholarship programs and infrastructure development was a primary challenge. Additionally, reaching out to and identifying deserving students from remote areas required extensive effort. The college also faced the challenge of maintaining and updating the infrastructure to keep pace with technological advancements. Resources required for this practice include continuous financial support for scholarships, regular maintenance, and updates of the infrastructure, and a dedicated team to organize and conduct workshops and seminars.

1. Title of the PracticeEmpowerment of Women through Employment Generation Programs2. Objectives of the Practice:

- To promote self-reliance among economically backward women.
- To provide women with skills and resources to start their own small-scale businesses.
- To enhance the economic stability of women through employment generation.
- To support community welfare, particularly during crises such as the COVID-19 pandemic.
- To strengthen the bond between the college and the local population through community support activities.

3. The Context:

In many rural areas, women from economically backward sections face limited opportunities for employment and economic independence. Addressing this issue is crucial for improving their quality of life and contributing to the overall development of the community. Late Bhimrao Art, Commerce, and Science College, led by Er. Sheshrao Bhimrao Chavan, recognized the need to empower these women by providing them with the necessary skills and resources to become self-reliant. The initiative was designed not only to foster economic independence but also to support the broader community, particularly during times of crisis.

4. The Practice

Er. Sheshrao Bhimrao Chavan initiated and led employment generation programs aimed at empowering economically backward women. Key components of these programs included the distribution of sewing machines and the establishment of free handicraft training centers. These initiatives equipped women with traditional skills, enabling them to start their own small-scale businesses and achieve financial independence. The college also played a significant role in community welfare, especially during the COVID-19 pandemic and periods of drought, by distributing essential supplies such as food, masks, and drinking water. These efforts provided crucial support to the community during challenging times.

5. Evidence of Success:

The success of this practice is evident in the significant improvement in the economic conditions of many women in the region. Numerous women who participated in the programs have successfully established small businesses, leading to enhanced financial stability for themselves and their families. The community support activities have further solidified the relationship between the college and the local population, fostering a sense of trust and mutual support. The initiatives have also been recognized for their contribution to the socio-economic upliftment of the community, particularly during crises.

6. Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

Several challenges were encountered during the implementation of this practice. One of the main Challenges was securing sufficient resources and funding to provide sewing machines and sustain the handicraft training centers ensuring the consistent participation of women in these programs, especially in more remote areas, required extensive outreach and engagement efforts. The logistical challenges of distributing essential supplies during crises also posed difficulties. Resources required for the successful implementation of this practice included funding for equipment, skilled trainers for the handicraft centers, and a dedicated team to manage community outreach and crisis response efforts.

BRIEF WRITE UP

I have been an active and committed member of the Indian National Congress since the last thirty years, holding various posts at the district and state level. I have the capacity, Strength and merit to organise the Banjara community to further the electoral interest of our party.

I am glad to inform you that I am a Graduate Engineer and had served on different posts in Irrigation Department, Govt. of Maharashtra. As per the instruction of High Command I had filled my nomination papers of Hingoli Parliamentary Constituency in May - 2004. However, that post was given to the Nationalist Congress Party during Compromise.

I have faithfully fulfilled the responsibilities and position given to me by the party from time to time. In 2008 I served as the General Secretary of the Maharashtra Congress Committee, in-charge of Aurangabad District and as the party inspector of Yavatmal District. Moreover, I have always been active in local bodies, assembly, Lok Sabha elections, party agitations, camps and meetings.

Similarly, During the Legislative Council Election (MLC) my name was recommended by our party from the nanded Local Sector. However dispute arose between 2 seats viz. Pune and Nanded. It is Pertinent to note that the Congress had a total strength of 150 members whereas the NCP had only 30 members. Still the Nanded Seat was awarded to the NCP. I supported the NCP candidate as per the instruction of the High Command and ensured his Victory.

In the 2009 Assembly elections of Maharashtra I was denied the opportunity to contest at the last moment. There after in the year 2014, 2019 I requested for the membership but could not get an opportunity from the party. In spite of that I am working actively as party worker.

Yours
Er. Sheshrao Chavan
